

The University of Chicago Section of Emergency Medicine is offering a two-year Medical Education Fellowship. This fellowship will provide emergency medicine residency graduates with advanced training necessary for a career in undergraduate and/or graduate medical education. Fellows can expect to be trained in:

- Teaching Methodologies and Evaluation
- Curriculum Design and Assessment
- Scholarship in Medical Education and Health Professions Research
- Residency Program Administration

Education

The Medical Education Fellow will be supported in the following programs:

- Masters Program for Clinical Professionals (M.S.) at the University of Chicago or Masters in Health Professions Education (M.H.P.E.) elsewhere
- The Teaching Course
- ACEP Teaching Fellowship
- Travel to SAEM, AAMC, ACEP, CORD

Administrative Experience

The Medical Education Fellow will have the following opportunities:

- Participation in the Graduate Medical Education Committee, Pritzker Curriculum Review Committee and Residency Education Committee
- Function as an interim assistant program director
- Assist the residency program leadership with recruitment, curriculum design and operations
- Involvement in medical student and resident lectures, small-groups, teaching labs and simulation sessions.
- Involvement in research and development opportunities in medical education

Clinical Work

64 clinical hours per month

Fellowship Director

James Ahn, MD MHPE
Associate Program Director
Fellowship Director

Application Materials

Curriculum Vitae
Letters of Recommendation (2)
Cover Letter

Please direct any questions to: jamesahn@uchicago.edu